

THE DIABETIC SUPER-HERO

COURAGE

THE PAST
LIVES
AGAIN!

Inside Shooters, Josh and Miss Chambers are relaxing shooting a pool game and talking over the past.

... not realizing that outside their world is about to change again.

Those 2 are always around when Courage and Monitor show up.

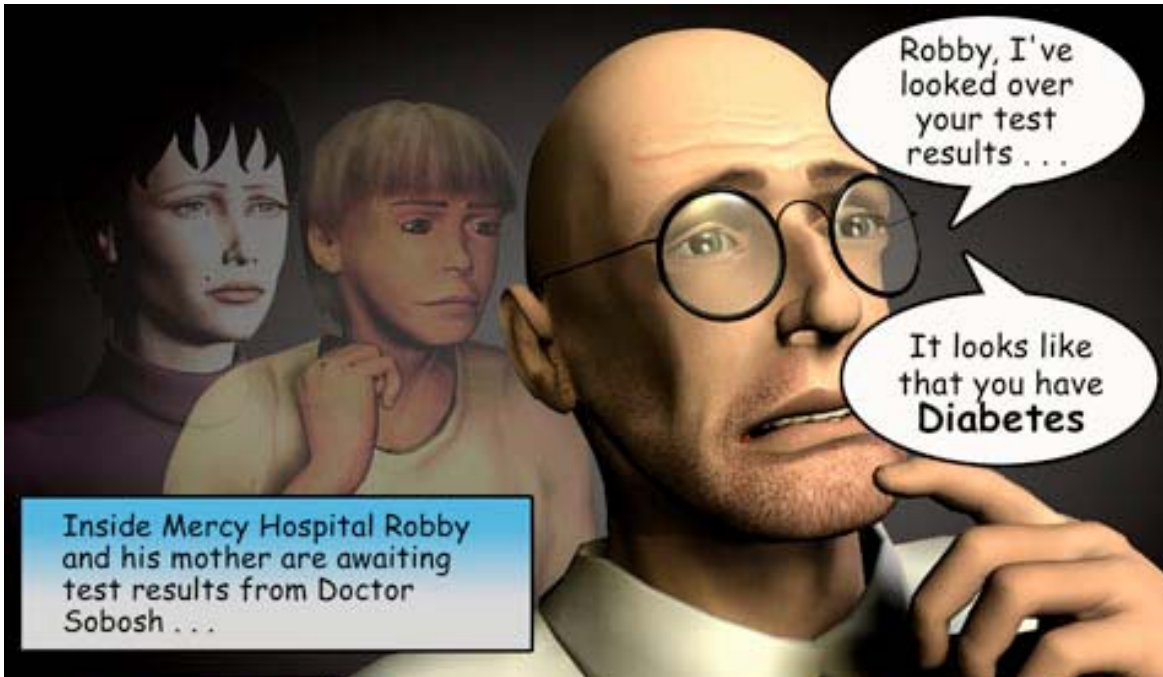

I wonder, Let's see.

Outside a new enemy has arisen, one that is more dangerous than any before or after him.

This should do it!!

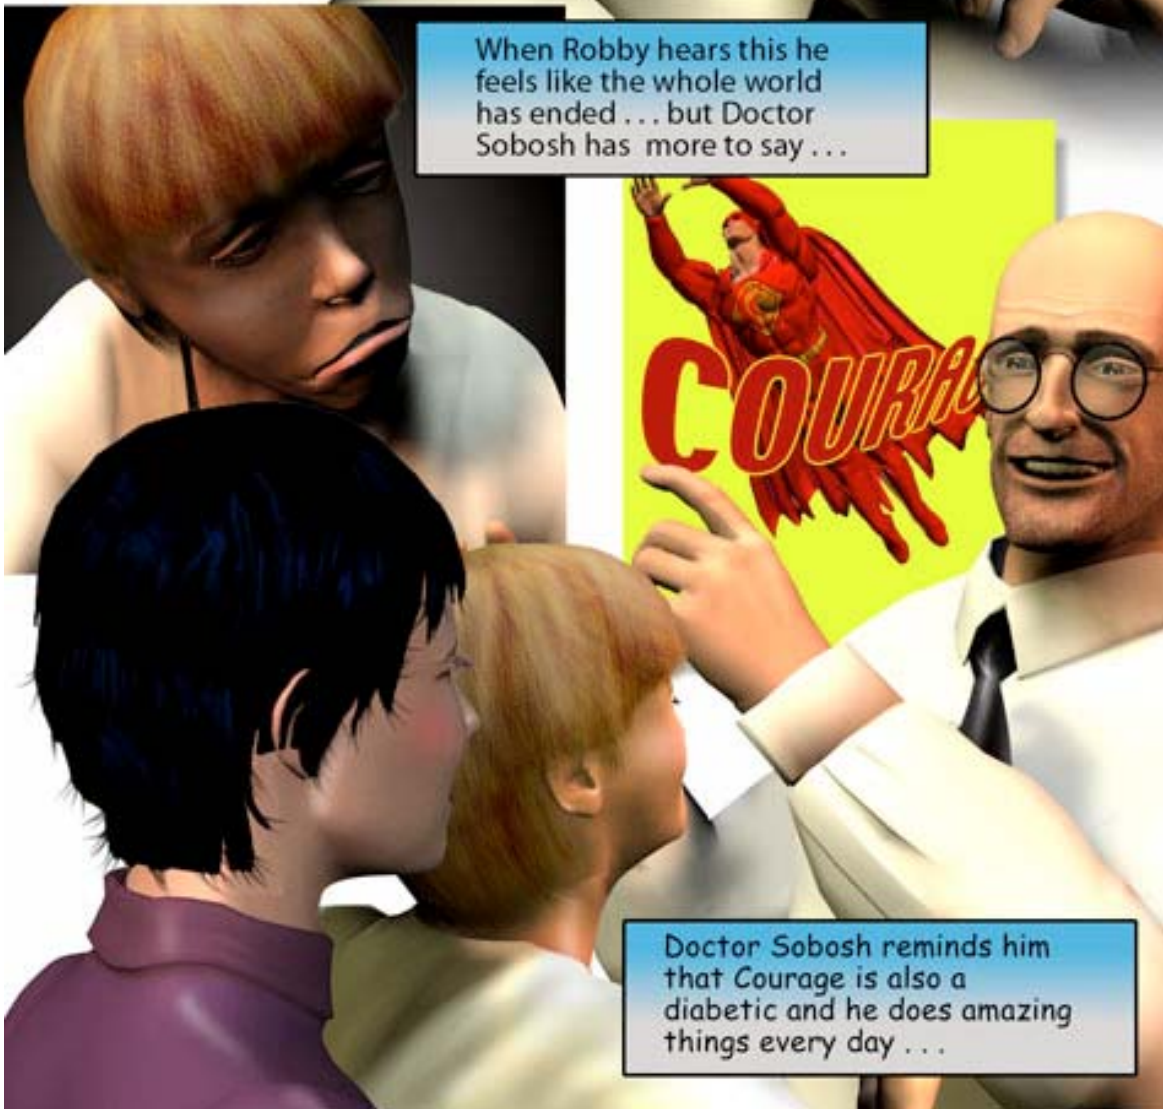

This enemy has seen our 2 heroes before, but where and why now? And what does he know that is so dangerous?

Inside Mercy Hospital Robby and his mother are awaiting test results from Doctor Sobosh . . .

Robby, I've looked over your test results . . .

It looks like that you have Diabetes

When Robby hears this he feels like the whole world has ended . . . but Doctor Sobosh has more to say . . .

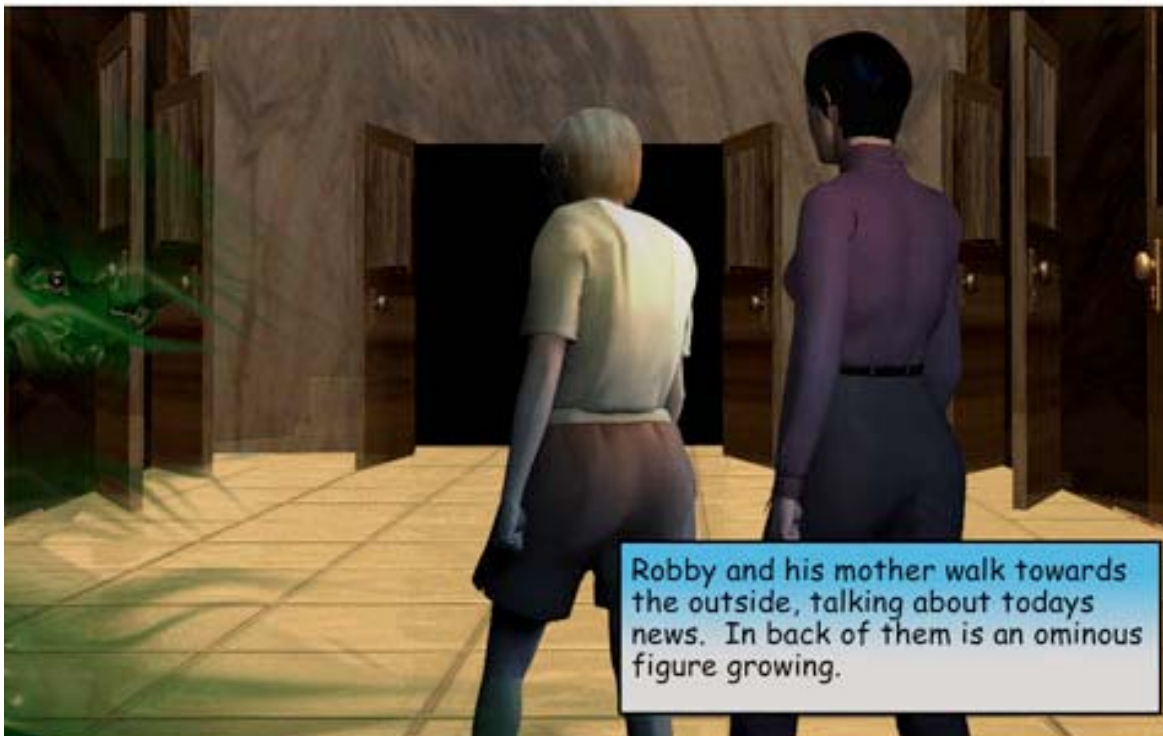

Doctor Sobosh reminds him that Courage is also a diabetic and he does amazing things every day . . .

The doctor explains to Robby that even though you are a diabetic, you can do anything, just like Courage has.

Robby is much happier now, and thinks to himself, maybe he can be a superhero one day.

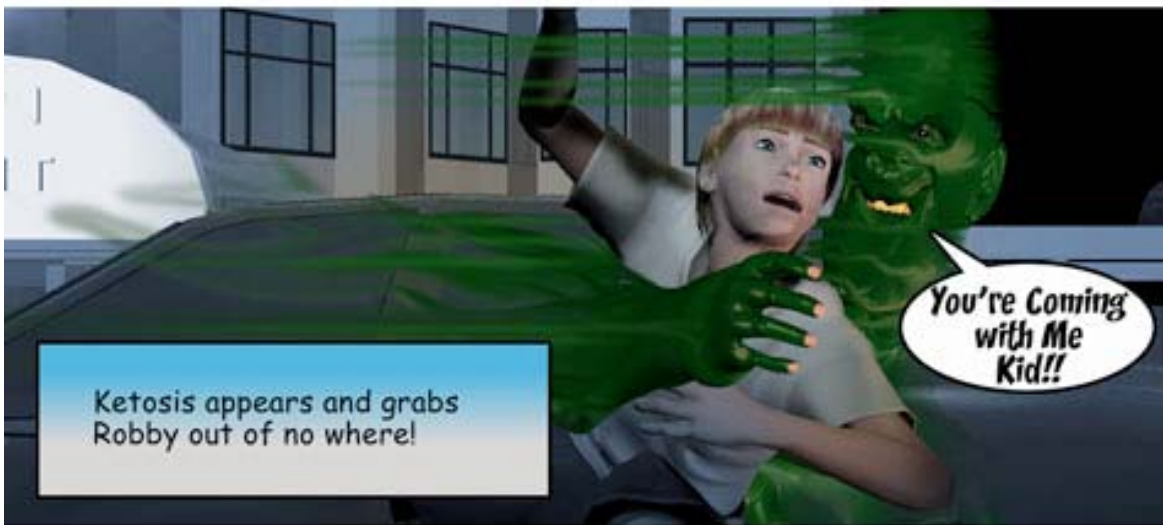

Robby and his mother walk towards the outside, talking about today's news. In back of them is an ominous figure growing.

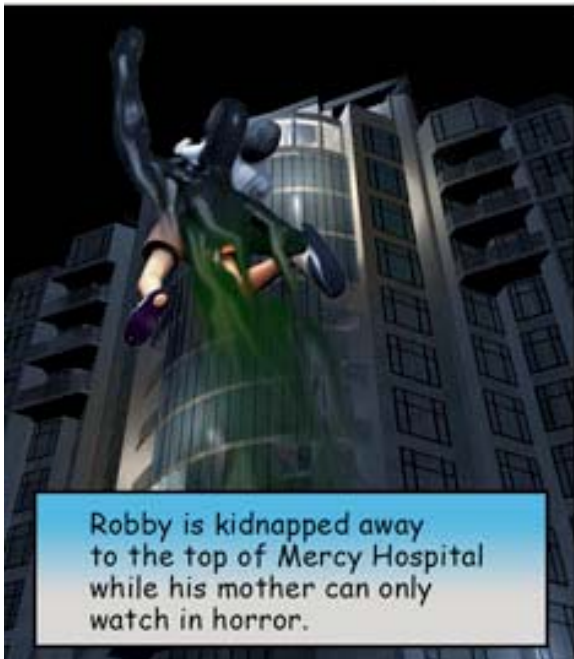

Robby and his mother leaves Mercy Hospital not knowing that danger is all around them.

A green mist is forming in front of them.

Ketosis appears and grabs Robby out of no where!

You're Coming with Me Kid!!

Robby is kidnapped away to the top of Mercy Hospital while his mother can only watch in horror.

HELP!

Josh and Miss Chambers are about to sit down and have dinner at Shooters.

The alarm on the audio watch sounds off!
A new villain has kidnapped a child and is on top of the health building, We need your help!

Go to the lab, I need to take care of this!

Here we go again

Josh runs out of Shooters knowing that time is of the essence. He has forgot one thing though...

Ketosis is holding Robby over the edge of the building, threatening to throw him off!

Well, if it isn't Courage, or should I say Josh Kelly? Glad you could make it!

What Now?

Let's see what ya Got Courage, Me or the Boy, Well?

Ketosis lets Robby go, making him start to fall to his death, can Courage save him?

NO!!

Well, what's the deal Bigshot, me or the kid, times up!

The kid is falling, Courage is looking back and forth, what to do... he has only milliseconds to make a decision.

The Kid, Jello Head, Always the Kid

You're be hearing from me, oh yeah, real soon, ha, ha.

Courage, flys down to save Robby, knowing that his chance to stop this new villian has faded away.

Ketosis flys away in a mist, knowing that he'll meet up with Courage soon.